

Brikena Kasmi, Head of the Legal Drafting Sector, General Department of Codification, Ministry of Justice

Brikena has been working in the Ministry of Justice as the Head of the legal Drafting Sector since 2007. Her duties include legal drafting and legal opinions. She has also worked with international relation as well as EU integration issues, where she has had major responsibility in the Ministry of Justice since 2003.

Her professional engagements have also included working in Albanian civil society where she has directed a youth center, and has organized the organization Youth Group for Human Rights.

Brikena has worked as a private attorney in private practice, where she handled the registration of religious communities under Albanian law.

She was part of the working group as the representative of the Ministry of Justice for drafting the law on religious communities as well as for the agreements between religious communities and Albanian state.

Brikena has written several papers and articles on juvenile justice, media law in Albania, etc.

She is a lecturer in administrative law, conflict of interest law and elections code.